Dear Greg:

When a subcontractor responds one way or another it always enhances the efficiency of the sub solicitation process for a general contractor. We can always count on Murray Drywall's preconstruction and estimating group to quickly know if they will be able to provide a price for a project, whether it's a budget or final. If they elect to bid on the job, we are assured that it is complete and accurate. They always provide the price in the format that is asked. When we interview the team for an award, they have detailed understanding of the project and offer valuable suggestions for ways to better the price or improve on the schedule.

Few are able to discuss market conditions like Murray Drywall and its impact on our upcoming projects. Occasionally we need unit prices to use for early budget work where the scope of work is not clear, Murray's estimating team are eager to assist. We have no problem in recommending Murray Drywall as a "goto" company for Drywall, EIFS, Acoustical and associated work.

Thanks guys for holding up your end of the process.

Sincerely,
